New Youn, Aug. 25.-Great socrecy was members of the Executive Board of the Knights of Labor, who arrived in this city from the South. Alexander Smiley, Master Workman of this jurisdiction, was found at his case in the composing-room of one of the daily papers. "I know nothing officially," he said, "on the entriest, and if I did I would not feel justified in giving it to the public. We are a secret body working for our mutual welfare, and it is the part of wisdom to keep our own counsels. I will state generally the Knights of Labor don't encourage strikes where they can be averted. We have had too many foolish strikes in which labor has been the sufferer. #### THE ALABAMA CLAIMS.

Durham Thinks He Has Found Something Crooked.

Washington, Aug. 25 .- The Treasury officials for some time have been looking into the expense accounts of the Alabama Claims Commission. Hints of looseness and extravagance in business methods on the part of the court have been thrown out. This led to an investigation of the expenses of the court and the result is Comptroller Durham has and the result is Comptroller Durham has temporarily suspended all accounts of the Court of Claims under the head of "incidental expenses." When Comptroller Durham looked over the account of the court he found on the rolls, outside of the officers authorized by the law of 1882, reorganizing the court, an Assistant Counsel for the United States, clerk to the assistant counsel, experts, assistant experts. Counsel for the United States, clerk to the assistant counsel, experts, assistant experts, clerk to experts, messengers, watchmen, etc., whose salaries amounted to $34,500 per year. The Comptroller also found in the quarterly returns there had been paid other assistant counsel over $68,000 for the quarter ending December 1, 1884, and about $7,000 for the quarter ending March 31,1885, besides other alleged illegal payments. Among the special counsel so engaged are Walker Blaine, F. D. Hunt, Hamilton Fish, Jr., E. T. Frelingbuysen and others. These payments were endorsed as correct by the presiding judge of the court. The Comptroller finds no law authorizing these payments, and after consulting with the Secretary of the Treasurer has determined to stop all future payments of salaries. all future payments of salaries.

Dunits, Aug. 25.-The members of the Irish Parliamentary party held a private meeting to-day over which Parnell presided. It was resolved that county conventions should consuit with Paruell as to the selection of proper candidates to stand for the coming general elections, and that each candidate shall sign a piedge that he will not and vote with the Parnell party in the event of his election. Candidates must also pledge themselves to resign their seats if a majority of their colleagues shall vote to require them to do so. Following the private conference public meetings were held and were addressed by Parnell. He said the triumph of the Irish cause was assured whether the Whigs or Tories won the elections. The Tories, he said, offer as good a scheme for Irish self-government as the Whigs. #### WANTS TO WEAR THE CROWN.

Ruth Rowley" Denies Queen Victoria's Right to Rule England.

People who have ever met the vivacious Mrs. Charles Tobias, who over the names of "Ruth Rowley," "Chatty Cheerful," etc., in the past few years has written columns of trashy matter for several of the city papers, will not be surprised to hear that she is engaged in writing a history of Scotland, because no subject is considered too large for her to tackle. They will hardly be pre-pared to hear, however, that in her researches she has discovered that Queen Victoria has no right to wear a crown and that the crown of England and Scotland at least, if not of the entire British possessions, should to-day rest upon the brow of her devoted husband rest upon the brow of her devoted husband, who is now known as Charles Stuart Tobias Walport. Such is the case, however, at least she has induced a reporter of the New York World to take enough stock in her story to write it up, and that paper has published it with a jucture of King James III., of Scotland, of whom she claims her husband is a lineal descendent and a picture of Charley, to show that his features closely resemble those of his supposed royal ancestor. She claims that her husband's relatives, the Stuarts of Danbury, Connecticut, have for many years mistrusted that cut, have for many years inistrusted that they were descendents of the Royal Stuarts, but until now have been unable to trace their but until now have been unable to trace their lineage back to any of the members of the Royal Honse with any degree of certainty. It is generally supposed James III was killed at the battle of Sauchie—Burn, June 18, 1488, but Mrs. Tobias has discovered evidence which proves clearly to her mind, at least, that he escaped unhurt, fled to the North of Ireland, and after hearing of the death of his wife (Margaret of Denmark) married again, the Siuarts of Connecticut being descendants of his children by his second marriage. It is claimed that the King's second wife was "an unknown lady of high degree, who in her own right the King's second wife was "an unknown lady of high degree, who in her own right had claims to the crown of Scotland," and as a son of James III. and Margaret was recognized as the lawful successor of his father there is no reason why the children of the second wife, "the unknown lady, etc.," should not be recognized as members of the Royal Stuart family. It is stated that about twenty-five years ago the Danbury Stuarts undertook to prove their lineage, but their plans were defeated by wicked emissaries from Queen Victoria, who came over and stole the records from the town hall in the village of Kent, about twenty-five miles from Danbury, where the claimant, Charles Stuart Tobeas Walport was born. After securing the records Queen Victoria seems to have given the matter no further thought and had not our "Ruth Rowley" undertaken to write not our "Ruth Rowley" undertaken to write a history it is probable that the great Eng-lish Queen would never have been asked to defend her crown against the claims of a Stuart. The claimant and his persevering imaginative wife are yet in Connecticut, col-lecting material for the history. She says that she is corresponding with distinguished Scotch noblemen and expects to obtain fur-ther and more positive proof of the claims of her husband in the near future. With the The action of Salamanca will, it is hoped by the military officials of Spaia, shame King Alfonso into resigning his honorary colonelcy of the Uhlen regiment, conferred upon him by Emperor Wilham. #### The Uhl and Powers Property, "I do not think that the advantages of the Uhl and Powers property are fully appreciated by our citizens," said Attorney-General Taggart, yesterday, in speaking of the selection of a site for the Soldiers' Home. "Of course," he continued, "if the Home should be located there Jefferson avenue would be extended to it, and the Home would then be reached by the finest drive in the city. Another very important feature in favor of this location is the fact that it has upon it such large and magnificent springs of pure water. I believe there is nearly, if not quite. enough water there to supply all that is re-quired for domestic purposes in this city. Then the location is high and healthy, a nice stream of water flows past it, and the railroad is near by."

THE NEW POSTAL LAW. Extreme Prices of Dry Goods.

PRODUCING DISSATISFACTION

The Use of the Census of 1880 Will Operate Unjustly to the Thrifty Growing Towns.

Washington, Aug. 25.-Post Office Department officials think that the clause in the law establishing the ten-cent special deivery system, which limits its introduction into places having a population of less than as a refer noe in future years.

SPRING & COMPANY. 4,000 at the last census, will cause considerable complaint, for the reason that since the last census a great many towns have increased in population at such a rate as to bring them within this limit, and in some cases beyond. As an instance, according to the last census the population of Birming-ham, Ala., was less than 4.000; now it is es-timated at 30,000. Then there are the towns of Denison and Sherman in Tex-as; according to the census re-turn Denison had 4,000 inhabitantants and Sherman had less. Now Dennison has fallen behind and Sherman has gone ahead. but the system will be introduced into the former and not into the latter place. There are four towns in Connecticut, Ansonia, Birmingham, Rockville and South Norwalk, where the population now would entitle them to this service, but at the time of the them to this service, but at the time of the last census they were not entitled to it. It is stated that there are more than fifty towns in the country where the population during the past five years has increased so that the total is above the limit provided by law, but under the tests of the law the system can not be introduced in these places. The criticism is quite common among the Post Office Department people that the law should have left it discretionary with the Postmaster General to extend the system to such places where, to his best information, the population has reached 4,000.

Corsessions, Ang. 26.-The cashier of Landmand's bank, this city, was arrested today for having emberzied 131,000 kermer (about $30,000) from the funds of the bank.

Twenty-one years ago, eight mouths before the collapse of the Southern Confederacy, cotton, n price ever known, while to-day everything manufactured from those articles is cheaper that history gives any appoints.

A larger portion of the present population of this country will probably doubt the accuracy of the table furnished below showing the prices of goods in the year 1964 as compared with to-day, but we can assure the readers that the prices here given are substantially correct. Everybod, who may chance to see this will do well to preserve this paper as it will no doubt be interesting

The greatest fluctuation has occurred in cotton goods of all kinds, as will be shown by the two lists of prices. The figures on the left indicate war prices, while those or the right represent the prices of to-day:

We never sold these goods during the wi for over fifty cents per yard although the price for the best at that time at wholesale was exactly this price and remained so for nearly the entire year of 1864. We are now selling the very best quality for the extrem low price of five to seven cents per yard.

People never found fault or complained in the least of the prices of goods during all this time. Ten yards of Calico for five dollars, twelve yards for six dollars. We often forty dollars per piece.

Ginghams that we now sell for 6c to were sold for 50c to 60c per yard.
